WATER STORAGE.

The California Press Association has taken the water question in hand. Congress, which will cheerfully put up $50,000 for a public building at Podunk, or appropriate hundreds of thousands for dredging a fishing smack inlet or a river the size of the Humboldt, if it flows into the ocean, seems to think that is the limit of the system of internal improvements. Five times as much money is squandered every year upon such "improvements" as would give Nevada a water supply which would more than quadruple her agricultural crops and insure the sale and cultivation of every acre of government arable land in the State. The Senators and Representatives of all the arid land States should combine in an effort to direct the attention and action of Congress to this all important matter. Why wouldn't it be a pious idea for the Press Association of this State to prepare an elaborate memorial upon the subject, to be presented to Congress at its next session? It could certainly do no harm and might be productive of some good. Our next legislature should also take the matter in hand and present it in the form of a joint resolution. Abundance of irrefutable argument could be adduced showing that government aid and money would benefit more people and result in more profitable returns, by extending the internal improvements system to the reclamation of the arid lands of the west than by exclusive action in the interest of navigation. The State is too poor to assist materially in the project, and private enterprise, unless encouraged and aided by national legislation, is not likely to result in any general system of water impoundment such as is needed in the State.

Let the Press Association take the initiative in the matter. It will at least direct public attention to the subject and perhaps approve the starter for an agitation which will lead to the desired extension of the system of internal improvements.

MISTAKEN

A good many Silver office holders and would be party bosses are trying to make the people of Nevada believe that is the Silver party were to go out of existence, which it surely will, next year the sun would quit shining.—Wells Herald.

You are mistaken. The Silver party location has been abandoned, and the company has gone into political bankruptcy. An effort is being made to make the Democratic party its assignee and to continue the business of horse rule under the same Sign tent, and the same Board of Directors. Preparations are making to move the machinery into the Democratic camp and to work it as at the old stand, with a change only in the name of the company.

It is evident that the Herald is not up to date in regard to political matters in Nevada, or it would not use the subjective mood, or the future tense, in speaking of the Silver party going out of existence.

The assets of the defunct party have not yet been formally transferred and perhaps they never will be, as there is considerable opposition among the Democratic stock holders to assuming the indebtedness of the deceased and the surrender of their charter to its heirs. But the attempt is being made just the same, as our Elko county contemporary will ascertain before the primaries are held in the year of Our Lord, nineteen hundred and nothing.

"Every man and woman in the State may use our columns on any subject they may wish to write." Says the Wells Herald.

That's a dangerous offer, brother, and one that is liable to compel you to enlarge the Herald to four times the size of its New York namesake. Suppose, for instance, Nevada's political boss was to take you at your word, and set his nickel a column scribbler to work eulogizing his patriotism and philanthropy and relating the sacrifices he and the Southern Pacific are making for the ungrateful people of Nevada. Better draw the line somewhere or else order forthwith a couple of dozen linotypes with the corresponding accessories, or you are likely to be caught out, and with a suit on your hands for breach of contract.

The Morgan mill will probably commence crushing Con. Virginia ore next month.

Elmer Root, a New York lawyer, has been appointed Alger's successor as Secretary of War. While probably not one person in five hundred in the United States ever heard of Mr. Root, they can comfort themselves with the assurance that he can hardly avoid being an improvement upon his predecessor. Although a soldier should have been appointed, the people of the country will feel so relieved by riddance of Alger that an unknown and untried man will be accepted without much complaint. As a matter of fact and common sense, however, the appointment of a civilian, especially in time of war, to that position, is as incongruous and inconsistent as would be the making of an Army or Navy officer Attorney General of the United States.

"Dickie" Jose Passes Through.

Richard Jose, the famous contractor, passed through Reno last night on his way to New York, where he goes to fill an engagement. A number of his Reno friends spied him at the depot and severely took him to task for not informing the people of his old home that he was coming through. Mr. Jose explained that he had been called by telegram and had only time to pack his grip and tell his wife good-bye.

"Remember me to all my good Reno friends," said he, "and tell them that I long to see them all again. I will be back in Reno about next Christmas and will stay a day or two among you." Harry Gosse, proprietor of the Riverside Hotel, and one of "Dickie's" most intimate friends, assured the popular tenor of a royal welcome and a Christmas dinner on his return.

Collection of Fair Fund.

Henry Ritter and Sheriff McInnis, Finance Committee for the State Fair, have already received subscriptions to nearly to the amount of a thousand dollars from the citizens of Reno, and expect to raise half as much more. The appropriation of $3,600 made by the legislature is for premiums and can be expended for nothing else. Half of that sum, $1,800, only can be used this year and the rest of the money has to be raised by subscription. There will be enough collected, however, to make the Fair a success and all who attend may rest assured of a creditable display of stock and some of the finest races ever witnessed in the State of Nevada.

A Malicious Falsehood.

Some envious and evil-minded newspapers have published a malicious report the apple crop in Reno was an entire failure this year. This atrocious falsehood can be proven by a visit to the orchard of Barney Olaw in the northwestern part of the town, where an apple, and a red apple at that, of this year's growth, is visible to the naked eye on one of his numerous trees. We admit that the Reno apple crop this year is not a profuse one, but most emphatically deny that it is an entire failure, as it is in Carson and other Nevada hamlets not so blessed by Providence and William McKinley as our contentful and flourishing town on the banks of the raging Truckee.

Carlin Merchant Stabbed.

J. W. Pruett, a merchant at Carlin, was badly stabbed Saturday by an Italian cook whom he had discharged. One of the stabs was in the right lung and the other in the stomach. Mrs. Pruett pursued the Italian with a gun, but was stopped and taken back home. The would be murderer is in the county jail at Elko awaiting the result of his victim's injuries.

He Fooled the Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, that he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest Pile cure on Earth, and the best Salve in the world. 25 cents a box. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson, Druggist.

BREVITIES.

Boston is said to be the "breeziest port on the Atlantic coast." It certainly is the best.

Governor Sadler returned from Enreka Sunday morning to attend the final argument of the contest case held yesterday in the Supreme Court.

Richard Dobson returned from San Francisco last Sunday and in company with his old partner, Geo. Fahrion has re-opened a bicycle shop near the iron bridge.

About thirty men are reported to have quit work for the Blue Lakes company the past few days. They say they do not care to work at an elevation where beans will not boil.

Peter Hall, who attempted suicide at McKinney's last Tuesday, has been taken to Auburn for treatment, and according to latest reports he may recover from the self-inflicted gunshot wound.

A Golconda guzzler lately drank five gallons of beer in five hours. That's nothing. There's a hog in Reno that can dispatch ten gallons of swill in half that time, and without any wagger inducement, either.

"Sweetest, sweetest of the sweetly sweet," was the initiatory line of a letter addressed by a Reno swain to his best girl who is teaching school in one of the ruta baga districts in the eastern part of the State.

Frank J. Button, a former Comstock boy, has struck a rich copper prospect near Golconda, the ore going 69 per cent. Mr. Button, it will be remembered was the Republican candidate for State Treasurer at last election.

Noted Colonizer Here.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Smythe of Standish, Honey Lake Valley, were among last night's N.-C.-O. arrivals. Mr. Smythe is president of the Associated Colonies, one branch of which is located near Susanville, Cal. They are here to meet their son, who is coming from the east to aid Mr. Smythe in his work. A JOURNAL reporter obtained an interview with Mr. Smythe, regarding the present condition and object of the Lassen county colony, which is said to be doing very well. The interview will be published in tomorrow's edition of the JOURNAL.

Welcome Showers.

There were a couple of most welcome showers yesterday afternoon which laid the dust and delightfully freshened the atmosphere. The rainfall was accompanied by volleys from heaven's artillery and flashes from the ariel dynamo. A little of the same kind of entertainment would be acceptable every day or two during the hot season.

Deceitful, but Brave.

He had been out late. When he reached his residence, the clock was chiming 5. Heavy, weary, disgusted, he opened the front door with some difficulty and softly toiled up the stairs, entering the bedchamber with elaborate caution.

Thank goodness, she was asleep! He dropped into a chair, and, without taking off his coat or hat, began to remove his shoes. One he placed with great care upon the floor, but, alas, as he took off the other it slipped out of his hand and fell with a loud noise.

"Wife!" awoko on the instant. She looked at him and then at the sunlight that streamed through the blinds.

"Why, George, what are you getting up so early for?"

Talk about reprieves! "Why, my dear," replied George, with the clearest enunciation of which he was capable, "I found I couldn't sleep, so I thought I'd get up and go out and take a walk."

And out the poor wretch went, dragging himself round wearily for an hour upon the verge of tears and torpor.

He Returned the Compliment.

A young man and a young woman are leaning over the front gate. They are lovers. It is moonlight. He is loath to leave, as the parting is the last. He is about to go away. She is reluctant to see him depart. They swing on the gate.

"I'll never forget you," he says, "and if death should claim me, my last thought will be of you."

"I'll be true to you," she sobs. "I'll never see anybody else or love them as long as I live."

They parted. Six years later he returns. His sweetheart of former years has married. They meet at a party. She has changed greatly. Between the dances the recognition takes place.

"Let me see," she muses, with her fan beating a tattoo on her pretty hand, "was it you or your brother who was my old sweetheart?"

"Really I don't know," he says. "Probably my father."—Exchange.

"Knotty" History.

Tying knots in a handkerchief to jog one's memory had its origin in China thousands of years ago. Before writing was invented in that country, which did not happen until 3000 B. C., memorable and important events were recorded by long knotted cords. The most ancient history of China is still preserved as told by these knots.

When Emperor Tschang Ki invented writing, the entire system of "knotting" was abandoned. And today the memory knots made by us in handkerchiefs are the only surviving descendants of that ancient custom.

"Now," said the border photographer, pulling his gun and leveling it across the camera at the man in the chair, "will you have the kindness to look pleasant?"

Much amused by the cheek and the cool nerve of the request thus conveyed, the bold cowboy smiled broadly, and at that instant the border photographer pressed the button.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

ASBESTUS.

Some of the Peculiarities of This Mysterious Substance.

Asbestos is a physical paradox, yet one of nature's most marvelous productions. It has been called a mineralogical vegetable; it is both fibrous and crystalline, elastic, yet brittle; a floating stone, which can be readily carded, spun and woven into tissue. In Germany it is known as steinfachs (stone flax), and the miners of Quebec give it quite as expressive a name—pierre coton (cotton stone). The asbestos mines of Quebec are the most famous in the world, yielding 85 per cent of the entire output, Italy being the only competing country, and there the industry is declining. Although Charlemagne is said to have had a tablecloth of asbestos, which he cleansed by throwing into the fire, it was practically unknown until 1850.

The Italian mineral was then experimented with and some years later put on the market. In 1878 the first Canadian mine was opened, and the product steadily increased until 1890, when 9,800 tons, worth $1,260,000, were mined. There has since been a decline in value, the amount for 1896 being 12,200, worth only $430,000. Asbestos is flexible, noncombustible and a non-conductor of heat and electricity, and on these properties its increasing use depends. It is spun into yarn, from which cloth is woven for drop curtains in theaters, clothing for firemen, acid workers, etc. It is made into lamp wicks and gloves for stokers and ropes for fire escapes. It is felted into mill-board to be used as an insulator in dynamos and as a fireproof lining for floors. It is used to insulate electric wires and as a covering to prevent loss of heat from steam pipes. Mixed with rubber it is used to pack steam joints. —Pittsburg Dispatch.

BATTLE WITH SHARKS.

A Desperate Encounter in Which Two Men Entered Were Slain.

Probably the most desperate fight which has ever been witnessed between a couple of sharks and a human being took place at Havana some time ago.

Several fruit peddlers had boarded a large mailboat, and among them was a swarthy, barelegged young chap noted among his comrades as a clever swimmer. The purser of the vessel was standing by the gangway, holding his child in his arms, watching a couple of sharks that were hanging about the ship. Accidentally the child fell out of its father's grasp into the water. The father immediately jumped overboard and seized his child, and in a moment the sharks were making for the pair.

Seeing the predicament, the bare legged young buccaneer dropped his fruit basket and went over the rail like a flash.

As the first shark turned on its back—the invariable prelude to biting its victim—the young fruit seller rose to the surface, and, with a long, keen edged knife, fairly disemboweled it.

The other was not nearly so easily disposed of. The shark seemed to realize that in the fruit seller he had a dangerous foe and apparently spared for an opening. Several men on board the vessel blazed away at the monster with revolvers, but the young fellow begged the men to desist, being unnerved by the firing. Fish and man dived alternately, and when the fish did make for its foe the plucky boy dived and plunged the knife in its side.

The water was crimson with blood when the three were hauled safe and sound to the deck of the vessel, and a handsome sum of money was collected for the victor.

Why You Yawn.

Have you ever observed at a theater or concert that the people who are most deeply interested appear between the acts to be quite weary of the whole thing, yawning half a dozen times in succession? The reason of this is a physiological one. When your attention is much absorbed in anything exciting or touching, you breathe in a very shallow manner and take into your lungs only half enough air. Consequently, when your attention is relaxed, you have to make up the deficiency. This you do by yawning, which, after all, is only breathing a very deep breath.

If you watch a man at a play and observe that he is greatly moved by some incident, you may feel sure that when the scene ends he will sigh and a moment or two later yawn repeatedly. Of course the yawning, so far from being a sign of weariness, is a proof of the liveliest appreciation.

Very often you will observe the same phenomenon in a girl reading a novel. And by her yawning you can tell when the end of some absorbing incident is reached.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

"I think I would go crazy with pain were it not for Chamberlain's Pain Balm," writes W. H. Stapleton, Herminie, Pa. "I have been afflicted with rheumatism for several years and have tried remedies without number, but Pain Balm is the best medicine I have got hold of." One application relieves the pain. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effective cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all its dangerous consequences. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

THE ARMERS
OF WASHOE.A General Review of Ranches and Crops—Some Interesting Facts and Figures.

The farm of John W. Devine, situated in the eastern end of the valley, contains 800 acres of fertile land. The first crop, which he has just finished harvesting, yielded nearly 100 tons of hay, being about the same as that of last year. No alfalfa is grown on the farm; the hay is a mixture of red top, timothy and wild grasses. Seven acres are planted in onions. Ninety tons of onions were raised on the ranch last year but owing to the unfavorable market they were sold at a loss. The onion crop is as good and the potato crop much better than that of last year.

GEORGE WYATT'S FARM

Contains 500 acres, one hundred acres of which is hay land. Twenty five acres are in clover, and the remaining seventy-five in wild grasses. Mr. Wyatt finished harvesting last Wednesday, and says his crop is a little better than it was last year. He employed seven men during haying, which lasted twenty days. Nearly a carload of potatoes and one of onions are raised annually on the farm, but the vegetables are not doing as well this season as formerly.

O. C. ROSS RANCH.

This farm of 160 acres lies north of Glendale. Seven or eight men were employed to put up the crop grown on one hundred acres devoted to hay. The first crop, which is now all up, yielded ninety tons of clover and eighty tons of timothy and mixed grasses. Mr. Ross says his crop is about twenty tons short this year. All the hay is fed to his own cattle at the farm during the winter. During the summer they are turned out on his Red Rock range, twenty-five miles north, where, in company with Mr. Leigh, he owns other properties.

What's Round Robin Is.

A JOURNAL correspondent inquires the signification of the term "round robin" by which was designated the communication lately sent by the press reporters at Manila to the War Department.

A "round robin" is a communication, generally a complaint or protest, and sometimes a threat, sent by subordinates to superiors, and involving some degree of responsibility and sometimes even danger. To make the responsibility equal and to avoid the selecting of the one who heads the list, at the leader to be made an example of, a circle is drawn under the communication within which each man signs his name, commencing at the line and toward the center of the circle. The custom originated among sailors who adopted it in presenting their grievances to the captain of the ship.

The term is an old one and is used by Shakespeare in one of his plays, although we cannot just now recall the character or the connection in which it is used.

Accident on the N.-C.O.

The N.-C.O. train met with an accident last evening about five miles north of Reno. While running at a good speed the rear trucks of the attached passenger coach left the rails and bumped along on the ties for a distance of 200 feet before the train was brought to a standstill.

The car, which was crowded with passengers, did not turn over, and beyond a severe fright and thorough shaking up no one was injured. The derailed car was uncoupled from the train, which came on into Reno where another passenger coach was attached. It taken back to the scene of the accident. Passengers and baggage were then transferred and brought into Reno about an hour behind time.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too, by a lady in this country. "Di-e-ne" named its clutches on her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and two bottles, has absolutely cured. BARROOM BATTLE

Four Pierce Fighters Fight at Frisch's.

Last Sunday night four men giving their names as John McMurtin, R. Chambers, Frank Johnson and J. P. Kelly, while drinking the past and bathing the present in unlimited quantities of steam beer, became involved in an altercation as to which one could imbibe the greater number of barrels per hour. A fight ensued, and if the police had not been near at hand Satan undoubtedly would have had another gozzler or so engaged in shoveling sulphur.

McMurtin was pretty well facially disfigured when the officers ran in and dragged two men away from him, placing all four under arrest. They now languish in the county calaboose, far from the sublime seductiveness of the "growler."

Irrigation Representatives Meet.

At a meeting held yesterday afternoon of owners of the several large ditches from which the Truckee valley farmers derive their water supply, steps were taken toward investigating the shortage of water in the Truckee river, and Charles Gulling was appointed a committee of one to ascertain the cause and take whatever measures are necessary to remove or diminish them.

The water supply is already so low that farmers throughout the valley are all at work cleaning out the ditches and many fear that the second crop of alfalfa will be short for lack of irrigation. Recognizing this, the ditch companies will do all they can to increase the flow in their ditches.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile of Washita, L. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters have cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused great suffering for years. This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson's Druggist Guaranteed.

Map of Wadsworth

A copy of the recently completed map of the town of Wadsworth was placed on file with the County Recorder yesterday morning. The surveying and draughting was done by surveyors Stewart and Chalmers. It is a splendid piece of work, clear, complete and accurate in every detail and was made for the purpose of enabling those who own town lots on Indian Reservation land to secure titles to their property. For this purpose a copy of the map will be sent to Washington.

Gubernatorial Contest Case.

Argument in this case was commenced yesterday at Carson. The argument for McMillan was opened by Attorneys Smith and Coffin, who were followed by Lieutenant Governor Judge and Wren for Sadler. Woodburn will close for Sadler and Cheney for McMillan. The chief points of contention are the red line ballots of Storey county and the registration in Washoe.

Wanted to Run the Court.

Yesterday afternoon while a man by the name of Bowen was being examined at the police court, on a charge of selling liquor to Indians, a man known as Frank Burnham appeared in the courtroom and made himself quite obnoxious to the officials by endeavoring to act as attorney for the prisoner and compulsory advisor to Judge Linn. When reprimanded he took offense and grossly insulted Deputy Constable Leeper; inviting, challenging and daring him to personal combat.

Although our officers are lured to abuse, and have always taken more than they would allow any one else to be given, there is a limit to their temper. The fellow continued his insults until Mr. Leeper could endure them no longer, and was preparing to "lick" Burnham in good old style, when the fellow suddenly concluded that fist-fighting is an extremely unartistic pastime, utterly unfit to the exalted station of a vagrant. Besides this it requires exertion, and exertion is distasteful to the fraternity. Gathering a group of sympathetic friends about him, he prevented the irate officer from giving him the thrashing he richly deserved.

In Darkness Again.

For an hour or so in the early part of last evening the electric incandescent system on the JOURNAL circuit gave just about enough light to swear at, but not enough to swear by. After making darkness dimly visible for a while the dynamo weakling flickered out entirely and left the JOURNAL shebang in Egyptian darkness, until the Standard Oil Company came to the rescue. Nearly all of last week the incandescents were about as weak as a consumptive's lungs and as feeble as a bed-ridden prize-fighter. That thousand, more or less, candle power dynamo don't appear to be a howling success.

An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

During the early part of October, 1898, I contracted a bad cold which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feared that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was immediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—J. To Be Buried in San Francisco.

The remains of Mrs. John Ford, who died in Virginia last Sunday, passed through Reno last evening on the way to San Francisco where they are being shipped for interment. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Pearson and J. L. Finnigan of Virginia went to the city on the same train to attend the funeral, which will take place this afternoon. Mrs. Ford was the aunt of J. L. Finnigan and was Mrs. Pearson's mother.

Closing Out.

I am closing out my entire stock of dry goods at actual wholesale cost for cash only; for the purpose of re-opening next door when the building is finished, with altogether new fall and winter goods. Everybody should take advantage of this sale. Every article, from the finest dress goods and silks to the simplest domestic goods and fancy goods, is reduced to cost price and must be sold before removing.
